

Aaron

Moses

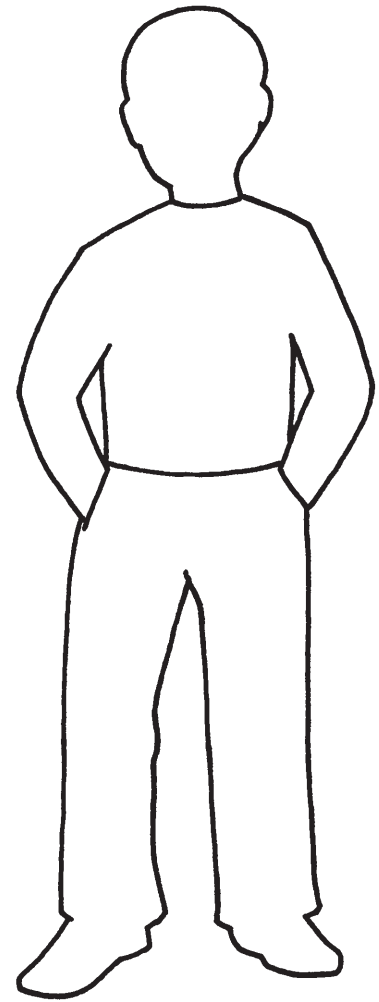

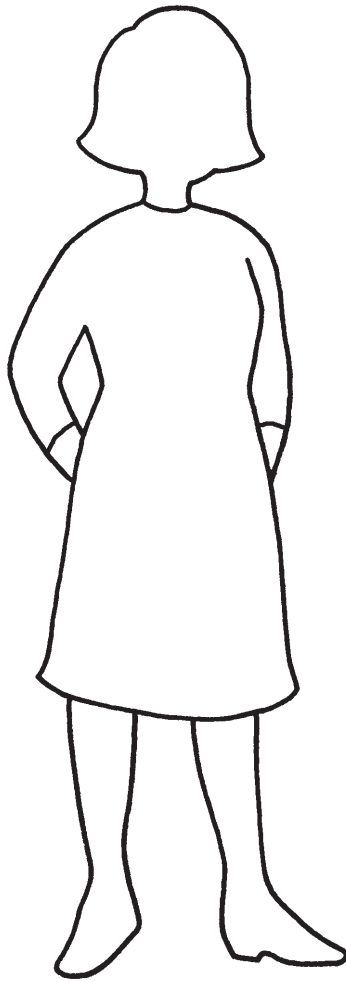

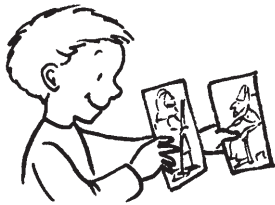

Pharaoh

FOR PARENTS

In today's Bible lesson your child heard how Aaron helped his brother, Moses, by speaking for him before the Egyptian pharaoh (Exod. 3—5, and 12). The children learned that God wants people in our families to help one another.

Ask your child to use the Bible character puppets to retell today's Bible Story. Then join your child in using the present-day puppets that your child colored, to create your own puppet plays of ways the people in your family can help one another. Remind your child that God is pleased when we use our skills to help one another. Practice the Bible memory verse for this month: "Let us love one another, for love comes from God" (1 John 4:7).

FOR TEACHER

Before class:

- Remove this page from the book.

During class:

- Students will color each contemporary figure drawing clothes and faces so they look like people in the child's family.
- Show how to fold the burning bush figure so it will stand.
- Have the children separate the puppets.
- Tape a craft stick on the back of each one to use as a handle.
- Let the children use the Bible story figures as they retell the Bible story.
- Ask the children to use the present-day figures to make puppet plays about how people in families can help one another.

Talk about:

- How Aaron used his speaking ability to help his brother, Moses.
- The fact that God wants us to help people in our families.
- The skills you and your students have to use for helping people in your families.
