

Faithlife Giving Use Cases

I want to...

- Collect giving for church-supported missions
- Encourage people to give to missionaries from our church
- Enable giving for benevolence to our community
- Raise money for our youth group or other fundraisers
- Give to help church plants in our area and around the world
- Allow giving toward our building fund
- Communicate better about how we steward our church's income
- Make it simple for our donors to see their giving history and change their recurring gifts
- Make it easier for our church members to tithe

How Faithlife Giving makes it possible

You can easily set up special funds for missions, benevolence, church planting, and more, so your donors can donate directly to the funds they feel led to support. They can even give to multiple funds in one transaction.

Your donors can give a one-time gift toward your building fund, or they can set up recurring gifts. Plus, we'll add pledge functionality soon so you'll be able to keep track of what your donors intend to give.

Your Giving Dashboard automatically creates giving charts, showing how much your church is receiving, how many active donors you have, and more.

Logging into your Faithlife account gives you instant access to view your giving history and update your future or recurring gifts. A few clicks or taps is all it takes.

Giving is simple, mobile-friendly, and takes only a few seconds. Plus, you can add an embedded giving form on your church website easily. And if you use Faithlife Sites, it's already built in.

How the Faithlife platform makes it possible

In your church's Faithlife group, post photos, videos, or stories showing how each dollar given toward your special funds makes a difference.

Post pictures of new construction or renovation in your church building, or show how your building is serving your community.

The charts in your Giving Dashboard are built so you can share them. Post screenshots to your church's Faithlife group or send them to Proclaim, so your congregation understands how you're careful to steward each gift.

One login works for everything—your church's Faithlife group, small groups, Bible study software, and Faithlife Giving. Where you grow is where you give.

One login gives you access to your giving information, your church's engagement platform, and your Bible reading plans.

I want to...

- Thank our donors for giving, often sacrificially
- Teach my church what the Bible says about giving (but I'm scared)
- Help church members connect with people in need
- Help church members connect with one another
- Create a culture of gratitude

How Faithlife Giving makes it possible

Each gift your donors give represents time, hard work, and sacrifice. Your donors get an emailed receipt each time they give (whether it's a one-time gift or recurring). We're working on giving you the ability to update the receipt, so it looks and feels like your church.

Customize your church's emailed donation receipts to add a Bible verse about giving, so your donors are confident they're obeying God by tithing.

Invite people in your church to serve those in need, both in your church and outside it. Then, use your church's benevolence fund to receive donations to help people get back on their feet.

Every time someone gives, they are just one click away from your church's Faithlife group, where your church can share prayer requests, message each other, and more.

Faithlife Giving removes a common barrier to giving: hassle. Members can move from the impulse to give to finishing their donation within 20 seconds, on mobile or desktop.

How the Faithlife platform makes it possible

Donation receipts are sent automatically through Faithlife, so you never have to worry about making sure your donors are thanked. You'll also be able to run reports and giving statements so you can send personalized notes of appreciation.

Integration between Faithlife and Logos means it's simple to study what the Bible teaches about giving and tithing, as well as to share it with your church. Plus, Logos and Faithlife Ebooks offer helpful resources from authors such as Randy Alcorn and Larry Burkett, so your members and small groups can continue learning about the biblical principles behind giving.

Make needs in your church or community visible in your church's Faithlife Group. Post a photo of damages to a member's home, or request prayer and funds for a single mom in need. People can give financially right away, or they can connect with others to organize hands-on help.

Your churchwide Faithlife group is great for sending updates for your whole church, but did you know you can use subgroups? Your small groups, youth ministries, service groups, and more can stay in touch throughout the week. Plus, members can send individual messages, building relationships in your church.

Use your church's Faithlife group to follow along with a 10-day reading plan about generosity, and post about ways your church is growing in generosity in your community.
