Why do I hurt?
Benjamin Karner / General
The Secret Battle of Ideas about God
Hurt is the pain we feel when our suffering seems
I. Identifying the lies counterfeit worldviews tell about pain
Secularism - Pain has point or meaning
Secularism solution the pain
Marxism - Pain is caused by the of the rich
Marxist solution everything that keep us down
Postmoderism - No way of knowing we experience pain
Postmodern solution the absurd and quit expecting answers
New Spirituality - Pain exists because you are out of
New Spirituality solution - Attain
Islam - Stop asking about suffering

Page 1. Exported from Logos Bible Software, 11:59 AM March 15, 2021.

Islam solution Allah and perhaps he will relent his punishment
Much of modern life is about physical pain.
II. The Christian worldview: My suffering will be Hurt will not win. Indeed, it already has νικάω (nikaō) - winning, overpower, outlasting the enemy in a way that deprives if of its to harm
Insights about suffering
A. God everything and can do as he chooses
B. God does not to do everything.
C. Humans to sin.
D. God to redeem.
III. Jesus is the to suffering.
God's answer to suffering is offering as the sacrifice for our sin.
Jesus dealt with evil and suffering.
The of Christ turns back suffering.
IV. Five things you can do to find healing
A. Dwell on God's

B
C. Reject
D. Accept the	of others
E. Look	to a better day

Discussion Questions

What are some examples of pain we bear which has a point or meaning to it?

What are some examples of hurt in which we struggle to find the point or meaning to it?

What modern inventions and conviences are centered around stopping physical pain and suffering?

What things to we use to deal with pain that do not help us overcome suffering?

How does the fact that Jesus has overcome the world change how we view suffering?

How do we "bear one another's burdens"?

What victory over suffering did the cross of Christ bring to us?