The Fruit of the Spirit - “Faith”

Kingdom Women of God at Fort Foote Baptist Church and Kingdom Women of God all over this world: I greet you in the Matchless Name of Jesus, the Christ, Our Lord and Savior. I would like to talk a little about what the Bible says about A Trait in “The Fruit of the Spirit - Faith”. Our subject Scripture Gal. 5:22-23 (KJV) says, “But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law.”

The Bible says:

“Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.” (Heb. 11:1 (KJV))

“But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him.” (Heb. 11:6 (KJV))

“For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith.” (Ro. 10:3 (KJV))

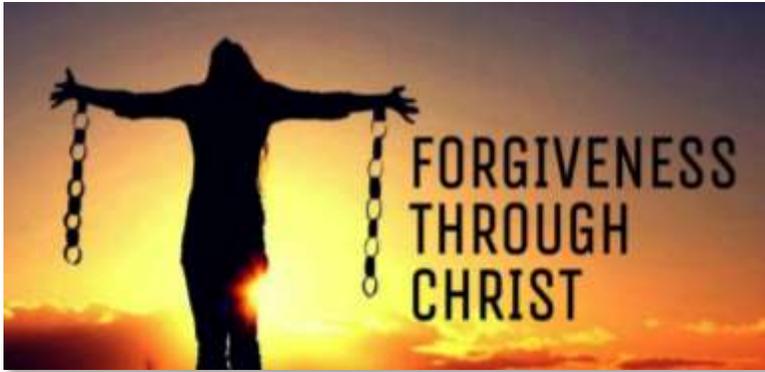

FIRST, YOU MUST TRULY BELIEVE!

A true believer is indwelt by God (the Holy Spirit), loved, nurtured and cared for by Him. The “fruit of the Spirit” our subject Scripture is referring to God’s character. Once the believer is indwelt by the Holy Spirit, He makes it possible for us to produce fruit. The believer is given God’s character, which is the fruit of God’s Spirit. Please notice that “fruit” is singular; therefore, the Holy Spirit has one nature and one fruit with nine traits. When He lives in you, all nine of these traits are manifested within you.

Our focus fruit of the Spirit trait is “faith,” which means to be reliable, steady, trustworthy and dependable in our committed love and loyalty to God. A faithful believer denies his/her way and trusts God. A faithful believer always trusts that God knows what is best and that He will always work things out for our good. To display your faith, be confident that God is faithful to fulfill all of His promises, do not waiver in your belief in Him and His ability to sustain you no matter what the circumstance or situation may be, and do not give in to the flesh. Trust that God will never leave you nor forsake you. Trust and believe that He will help you to walk by faith and not by sight. Trust and believe all the promises of His Word. Trust and believe that nothing is impossible with Him. Trust and believe that nothing is too hard for Him. Faith claims all of God’s promises. Faith begins with Him, and it continues with Him.

The True Believer Bears All Nine Traits of the Fruit of the Spirit

FROM BITTERNESS TO FORGIVENESS

A Godly Transformation

Imagine that someone has wronged you, hurt you, falsely accused you, spread lies about you, or unfairly judged you. Perhaps you feel anger which is fueled as you relive the offence again and again. You remember each painful slight, while fantasizing about verbal and/or physical acts of retaliation.

Bitterness is an emotional prison of choice which activates other sinful attitudes, such as hatred, cruelty, vengeance and unkindness. See to it that no one misses the grace of God and that no bitter root grows up to cause trouble and defile many (Hebrews 12:15). These sinful diseases, if left unchecked, will continue to grow and spread throughout all areas of your life polluting your spirit and behavior. For I see that you are full of bitterness and captive to sin. (Acts 8:23).

Withholding forgiveness, unforgiveness, is one of the most devastating mental choices in a Christian's life, it is a result of direct disobedience to God. So watch yourselves, "If your brother sins, rebuke him, and if he repents, forgive him. If he sins against you seven times in a day, and seven times comes back to you and says, "I repent, "forgive him" (Luke 17: 3-4).

How to forgive when it is much more gratifying to stay angry?

- Recognize that forgiveness, for a believer, is non-negotiable. Scripture clearly tells us that if we do not forgive others, then God cannot forgive us. For if you forgive men when they sin against you, your heavenly Father will also forgive you. But if you do not forgive men their sins, your father will not forgive your sin (Matthew 6:14-15).
- Trust God. Forgiveness means to completely leave the matter in God's hands, and to remember that any consequences or vengeance is His choice alone to administer. Dearly beloved, avenge not yourselves, but rather give place unto wrath: for it is written, vengeance is mine: I will repay, saith the Lord (Romans 12:19).
- Agree to live with the consequences of another person's sins. Christ did this for us. God made Him who had no sin to be sin for us, so that in Him we might become the righteousness of God (2 Corinthians 5:21). We do not have to continue to be available for additional ill treatment. We can instead accept whatever has happened as something that cannot be undone, takes steps to avoid reoccurrences, and choose to stop letting the offence negatively affect our future. Even if anger is a justifiable response, it does not give authorization to sin. "In your anger do not sin;" Do not let the sun go down while you are still angry (Ephesians 4:26).
- Realize that forgiveness is not a feeling: it is a choice. Forgiveness is often one of the most difficult steps in the walk of faith, because we think that to accomplish it we need to feel it emotionally. However, forgiveness is an act of the will, usually in direct opposition to what we are feeling in the flesh. We just need to place more value on obedience to God rather than harboring animosity over a situation that cannot be undone or erased. Forgiveness is a choice, a crisis of the will. Do not be overcome by evil, but overcome evil with good (Romans 12:21).
- Accept that forgiveness, for a believer, is ultimately a responsibility. There are two kinds of forgiveness: In one reconciliation and restoration are possible because repentance from the offender is evident. The other kind of forgiveness releases the offender from our resentment, even if the relationship cannot be restored because there has been no repentance on the other person's part or the other person is deceased. It is a Godly act of setting someone free of an obligation to you because of the wrong done to you. However, it does not necessarily mean forgetting. As far as the east is from the west, so far he has removed our transgression from us (Psalm 103: 12).

Forgiveness is a journey back into the possibility of a relationship, even if the dynamics of the relationship are not changed due to the offence. Forgiveness is an act of worship, where obedience to God's command becomes more important than self-validation. Forgiveness provides greater benefit to the giver than to the receiver, because it affords the giver freedom from the sin of bitterness. It is the purest reflection of our spiritual state and evidence of God's influence on our lives. Behold, for peace I had great bitterness: but thou has in love to my soul delivered it from the pit of corruption: for thou hast cast all my sins behind my back (Isaiah 38:17).

Giving and receiving forgiveness are two vital factors in achieving emotional healing and freedom in Christ. When anger and resentment become a part of who you are and what you do, identical twins are born into your spirit. Their first names are “Bitterness” and “Unforgiving,” and their last name is “SIN.” However, when absolute forgiveness is achieved identical twins are also born into your spirit. Their first names are “Grace” and “Mercy” and their last name is “REDEEMED.”

TESTIMONY OF AN “OLD SCHOOL” GRANDMOTHER...

Since the news media is flooded these days about young people's returning to, or going off as first-year students to, colleges and universities across the country, my thoughts have turned to when my grandson Kyle left to attend Wake Forest University in Winston-Salem, North Carolina. My anxiety and excitement prior to his departure was at hurricane level 6 on the Richter Scale. The fact that he asked me and his grandpa to accompany him and his parents to destination Wake Forest heightened my anticipation. On the other hand, this actually wasn't unusual because Kyle had heard stories about the McKenzie family tradition of the older generation's serving as unofficial chaperones for the college-bound students of past years – traveling to Dayton University, Boston College, the Boston Observatory, Norfolk State University, University of Maryland Eastern Shore, Morehouse College, University of North Carolina Chapel Hill – and how we made these trips adventurous.

All went well until I returned home and felt as if I'd lost my grandson and our connection. I called Kyle a few times; there was no answer – just voicemail. I told my son (Kyle's dad) that I had been unable to reach Kyle. After a hearty laugh, he said, “You had better text that boy.” I tried it my way again; I thought he'd be in his room getting ready to watch the Dallas Cowboys game. To my surprise, he answered immediately as follows: “Hello, Grandmommy. Is this an emergency”? I stuttered in response that it was not. To this, he said, “You’ve got 5 seconds; I’m studying right now.” Well, what could I say in 5 seconds? I told him that we’d talk later. Then, I followed my son’s advice and texted – thus, the beginning of my texting experience.

In addition to the “what’s up” with his classes, the Demon Deacon teams, his job as basketball manager, and his social life and my news of the family, I started including brief inspirational messages in my texts. At first, I wasn’t sure that Kyle was reading them until one day I decided to ask. He said that he read them every day. Needless to say, I was overjoyed. Going forward, he commented about the inspirational messages, in addition to telling me what and how he was doing. Four years later, at his graduation reception, Kyle said in his remarks that his angel sent him a daily inspiration, and that he still had the Guardian Angel visor clip she gave him when he got his driver’s license. It reads: “May you never drive faster than your Guardian Angel can fly.”

Texting worked for me the 4 years that Kyle was in college, and it still does, even though he’s graduated and moved to accept a job in Dallas. Currently, there are nieces and nephews going to school or working in Los Angeles, Boston, New York, and Miami, so I connect with them via text and via “Zoom” for family celebrations and on other occasions. I’ll learn other technology when the pandemic is over! Oh, I forgot... I have been on Facetime.

Thank God for showing me how to maintain my connection with my grandson using His Word, while adding to my own meditations. Here are examples of the inspirational messages that I have sent Kyle, which as you see are short and to the point. I love sending them, and Kyle loves receiving them:

Happy Easter Sunday! By His life, we are humbled. Through His death, we are saved. In His resurrection, we have everlasting life. Have a wonderful Resurrection Day. Read John 11:25-26.

Happy Make Monday Memorable. A new workweek, new challenges, new opportunities, new blessings. Who knows... maybe a miracle or two! Today, let’s thank God for the gift of life and do something that glorifies Him. Read Philippians 4: 6-7.

Happy Turning to Him Tuesday. Aligning ourselves to God’s Will and Way turns us around, as well as our circumstances. His Will is that everyone will be saved. His Way is that we will entrust every aspect of our life to Him. “He is the Potter, and we are the clay.” Read James 4:13-17.

Happy Keep Watch Wednesday. Watch your thoughts. For they become actions. Watch your actions. For they become habits. Watch your habits. For they become character. For it becomes your destiny. Are you keeping watch? Read Proverbs 4:23.

Happy Hard Truths Thursday. Accepting God’s wisdom isn’t always easy and often not what we expect, but it is exactly what we need, when we need it. Facing hard truths is a necessary part of our spiritual growth. Be a blessing and be blessed. Read Colossians 1: 28-29.

Happy Fan the Flames Friday. God has given you gifts that are unique and precious to only you. He’s waiting and watching to see what you’ll do. Fan into flames your gifts from God. Renew that spark that he placed in your heart. Obey God and leave all the consequences to Him. Read 1 Peter 4:10.

Happy Special Saturday. “Grandson” You are cordially invited to a Special Saturday night happy hour tonight at 8 o’clock eastern time. The access code is 301-567-xxxx. Hosted by Shirlekins. Looking forward to hearing your voice. Love you more than you can...

A KEEPER!!!

I grew up with practical parents. A mother, God love her, who washed aluminum foil after she cooked in it, then reused it. She was the original recycle queen before they had a name for it. A father who was happier getting old shoes fixed than buying new ones. Their marriage was good, their dreams focused. Their best friends lived barely a wave away.

I can see them now, Dad in trousers, tee shirt and a hat and Mom in a house dress, lawn mower in one hand, and dish-towel in the other. It was the time for fixing things. A curtain rod, the kitchen radio, screen door, the oven door, the hem in a dress. Things we keep. It was a way of life, and sometimes it made me crazy. All that re-fixing, eating, renewing, I wanted just once to be wasteful. Waste meant affluence.

Throwing things away meant you knew there'd always be more. But then my mother died, and on that clear summer's night, in the warmth of the hospital room, I was struck with the pain of learning that sometimes there isn't any more. Sometimes, what we care about most gets all used up and goes away ... never to return ... So... While we have it.... it's best we love it ... And care for it ... And fix it when it's broken ... And heal it when it's sick.

This is true. For marriage ... And old cars ... And children with bad report cards ... And dogs with bad hips ... And aging parents ... And grandparents. We keep them because they are worth it, because we are worth it. Some things we keep. Like a best friend that moved away or a classmate we grew up with. There are just some things that make life important, like people we know who are special ... And so, we keep them close!

I received this from someone who thinks I am a 'keeper', so I've sent it to the people I think of in the same way ... Now it's your turn to send this to those people that are "keepers" in your life. Good friends are like stars ... You don't always see them, but you know they are always there. Keep them close!

When arrive in Heaven = 10 things GOD won't ask you:

1. God won't ask what kind of car you drove. He'll ask how many people you drove who didn't have transportation.
2. God won't ask the square footage of your house; He'll ask how many people you welcomed into your home.
3. God won't ask about the clothes you had in your closet, He'll ask how many you helped to clothe.
4. God won't ask what your highest salary was. He'll ask if you compromised your character to obtain it.
5. God won't ask what your job title was. He'll ask if you performed your job to the best of your ability.
6. God won't ask how many friends you had. He'll ask how many people to whom you were a friend.
7. God won't ask in what neighborhood you lived, He'll ask how you treated your neighbors.
8. God won't ask about the color of your skin, He'll ask about the content of your character.
9. God won't ask why it took you so long to find Him and ask Him into your house, He'll lovingly take you to heaven and not to the gates of Hell.
10. God won't have to ask how many people you forwarded this to, He already knows your decision.

Know Your Numbers!

(Health Magazine, Medstar Southern Maryland Hospital Center, Summer 2021)

It's important to be proactive about your health and regularly see your doctor to monitor your health on an ongoing basis. One significant measure that you can take is to know and understand your numbers for blood pressure, cholesterol, blood sugar, and body mass index (BMI).

Blood Pressure

Target for adults: 120/80

Blood pressure measures the force of blood against the arteries when the heart beats and rests. It is important to know your blood pressure because having high blood pressure puts you at risk for a heart attack and causes strain on your heart, arteries, and kidneys.

It's easy to measure your blood pressure on machines at your local grocery store and pharmacy. As shown above, the target blood pressure for adults is 120/80. The top number, or systolic, represents peak pressure in the arteries and the bottom number, called the diastolic, measures the lowest pressure.

Cholesterol

Goal: less than 200

High cholesterol contributes to the formation of plaque in your arteries, causing blockages that can lead to a heart attack. Doctors can measure cholesterol through a blood test and can help you understand your number or overall risk.

Blood Sugar

Before eating: less than 100

Two hours after eating: less than 240

The food we eat is turned into glucose (or blood sugar) that our bodies use for energy. High blood sugar levels can cause damage to the heart, kidneys, eyes, and nerves. Doctors measure blood sugar through a blood test and may prescribe at-home kits for diabetic patients.

Medication and diet modification can help with blood sugar problems. In addition, exercise can help improve blood sugar and boost your overall fitness, thereby reducing your risk of heart disease and stroke. Diabetic patients should consult with their physician and track their blood sugar levels before, during, and after physical activity to monitor blood sugar fluctuations.

Body Mass Index (BMI)

Average target: 18.6 to 24.9 (ideal body weight depends on your gender, age, height, and frame)

Your BMI is calculated by taking your weight in pounds and dividing it by your height in inches. This measurement, along with waist circumference, is a good indicator to show if you are at a healthy weight. As BMI rises, so does the risk of certain diseases.

The target BMI range (rounded) for an adult is between 18 and 25. Like blood pressure, this is an easy measurement to do regularly on your own. Please consult with your physician for additional help in understanding these numbers and becoming heart healthy.

“Back To School”

1 Thessalonians 5:11 “So continue encouraging each other and building each other up, just like you are doing already.”

This past year has been a constant cycle of adjusting, whether it was adjusting to doing school at home, having to suddenly be around your family 24/7, or getting used to a brand-new schedule. These adjustments and changes have made it difficult to be physically together, which is often when we share God’s gift of encouragement.

For some, being together at school again sounds exciting, but for others, it may be scary. Our scripture reading gives us a perfect solution for dealing with the different reactions. Encouraging those who are excited and encouraging those who are scared will make being together again a positive experience. It is important that when we see each other again, our words and actions build up instead of tear down.

After we’re back into the rhythm of in-person school, it is important that we don’t forget to continue encouraging and building up one another.

Prayer: Dear God, please help everyone who is going back to in-person school to see others the way you see them, made in your image and deserving of encouragement. God of Grace, be the light that guides us. God of Peace, be the strength that carries us. God of Love, be the tie that binds us – Together! Amen

This Hit Home For Me!

When a flashlight grows dim or quits working, do you just throw it away? Of course not. You change the batteries. When a person messes up or finds themselves in a dark place, do you cast them aside? Of course not! You help them change their batteries:

- Some need AA – Attention and Affection;
- Some need AAA – Attention, Affection, and Acceptance;
- Some need C – Compassion;
- Some need D – Direction.

And if they still don’t seem to shine – simply sit with them quietly and share your light!

I Forgive Me

James Fortune

<https://youtu.be/VIoeSY-xgF4>

Sometimes the hardest person for you to forgive
Is the one you see in the mirror everyday
It's time for you to get free, sing FIYA

I've decided to stop replaying regrets
And I've decided to tell my past bye
I cannot change what I did
But I did change what you gave
When you took my place
No more guilt but grace (time to let it go)
Feel it all went too long
Watching reruns of my wrongs
Take the shame away (no more) Reliving mistakes you wash away (so I want you to do what God has always done for you and say)

I forgive me (it may have taken a while to get to this point but)
I forgive me (if God has forgiven you why can't you do the same?)
I forgive me (it's time to stop looking back so God's purpose can move you forward)
I forgive me (you may be sayin', "James but you don't know my past, I was wrong")

Yeah, I know it was wrong (carried this weight) Carried this weight for too long (I want you to get free right now and say)

I forgive me (you've been hard on yourself, long enough)
I forgive me (you've always felt like you weren't good enough, but that's over)
I forgive me (you've made mistakes but those mistakes don't get to make you)
I forgive me (God knew what you'd do and he still chose you)

Yeah, I know it was wrong Carried this weight for too long (but you've been carrying this weight for far too long)
I forgive me (now letting go can be the most difficult part of this process)
To have a memory of your past but not allow those memories to reduce the same pain in your future

But to day it's time for you to get your life back Instead of staying down and feeling sorry for yourself, I want you to pick yourself back up and let it go

I'm letting it go (the pain of yesterday)
I'm letting it go (you've already taken too much from me)
You won't steal my future anymore (the memory of every mistake)
I'm letting it go (it's time to receive God's grace)
I'm letting it go (you can't change his mind about you anyway)
You won't steal my future anymore (you could've been a better mother)
I'm letting it go (and maybe you should've been a better father)
I'm letting it go (so pick up the phone and call that child, it's not too late)
You won't steal my future anymore (it's time to let go of the shame)
I'm letting it go (the stuff they put on your name)
I'm letting it go (that yet was canceled when Jesus came)
You won't steal my future anymore

Oh oh oh, oh oh oh (hallelujah, the cycle's been broken and now)
You won't steal my future anymore (God's restoring the years) Oh oh oh, oh oh oh (that you thought you'd lost, he's gonna refund you for the time you wasted) You won't steal my future anymore (somebody say, "I've got a future, grace kept me alive because I've got a future") Oh oh oh, oh oh oh (I don't have an obituary, I've got a future)
You won't steal my future anymore (thank you Jesus)
Oh oh oh, oh oh oh (bless your name, girl)

I forgive me (maybe you didn't get it right the first time)
I forgive me (but God has already forgiven you)
I forgive me (and now it's time for you to forgive yourself)
I forgive me (don't who you were interfere with who God is allowing you to become)
