

THE BOOK OF DANIEL

Daniel 3:19-30 | Session 8 | B.C. 603-570

For many people, there seems to be an inward desire for a master—someone to tell them what to do<sup>1</sup>. Just as we have all seen during the hysterical covid pandemic, when people are told what to do they simply roll over and take the shot, stick a swab up their nose, or put on a mask, or stay six feet apart—with absolutely zero scientific evidence that any of the measures work, no questions asked, and no concern of what chemical was just injected into their body. This lockstep obedience to the so-called experts in government and the media has been called, Mass Formation Psychosis. To me it seems more like, The Twilight Zone.

But Mass Formation Psychosis is real and has an unsuspecting cult following; some can't help but follow. It is a form of group hypnosis that destroys individuals' ethical self-awareness and robs them of their ability to think critically.<sup>2</sup> Given enough peer pressure and fear of reprisal for doing the wrong thing, it is likely a totalitarian leader in any society can make people do anything he wants.

We saw this very thing happening in our last session of our study of Daniel. In chapter 3:4, the herald cried aloud to the people in Babylon, "To you it is commanded, O people, nations, and languages (a global order), ...whoso falleth down not and worshipping shall the same hour be cast into the midst of a burning fiery furnace" (Daniel 3:4,6). At that point, since not many people wanted to die, they simply gave in and bowed down: Mass Formation.

In chapter 3, with Daniel's repetition of a certain phrase, he makes the point of just how much propagandizing was occurring: He records the command of the king, four times (vs. 5, 7, 10, 15), that everyone must bow down at the sound of the cornet, flute, harp, sackbut, psaltery, dulcimer, and all kinds of music. This was some kind of repeated rote command heard from the herald (vs. 5), that seems to have been replayed over and over again; which is exactly how a totalitarian leaders get into the heads of their people.

The heralding so to speak of covid vaccines is a perfect example of how propaganda works today; the same way it did 2,500 years ago. Today it is by posters, internet pop ups, signs on doors of establishments, loud speakers in stores, etc. (See slides).

My point in showing these slides is not to criticize those who have been vaccinated, but to present how we can be duped as a group, mass formation, into doing something we may never do as an individual.

Mass Formation Psychosis is an extremely powerful psychological social pressure to stand up against. Research has shown that totalitarianism raises its ugly head, there are three different ways people respond to it:

1. The group who believes the propaganda and have totally bought into it. They are hypnotized and are in lockstep with every order that is announced. These people make up about 30% of the population. They are the ones who wear a mask while driving alone in their car, for example.
2. The second group is not hypnotized, but does not really believe the propaganda yet they go along with it (or at least they remain quiet) because they choose to not go against the grain. This group makes up about 40 to 60 percent of the population.
3. Then there is the third group that does not believe in the mass-forming propaganda and also speaks out against it. They make up about 10 to 30 percent of the population. These are the dissidents.

This is the group Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego were in. It appears they were the only dissident voices. How were they able to go against the flow? First, they never lost their Biblical worldview. Second, they kept sight of the fact that the God they served was Supreme. Fourth, they never lost touch with the commandments of God, e.g., Thou shalt have no other Gods beside me—thou shalt not worship any graven image. Finally, they knew God would protect them—And even if he didn't they would still not give in to mass formation psychosis. They would not lose their faith and would not bow down to a false idol, no matter what. These were courageous, bold, men of faith.

The danger of being a dissident is that those that are totalitarianized, and the totalitarian himself, are not impressed and the dissident can find himself in extreme danger. This is where we pick up our study from our last session.

Verse 19—

We noted in another session that Nebuchadnezzar was a type of the Antichrist who is to come. It is quite probable that throughout the Times of the Gentiles that while the Antichrist himself is not present in the world, the spirit of antichrist. This is what we are likely seeing with Nebuchadnezzar. In this case, in his fury, the form of his visage (face) was changed. I think this was more than just a change of expression or a frown on his face. Was he exhibiting the spirit of antichrist that will one day persecute the world? Perhaps.

Notice what he does, he commanded that they should heat the furnace one seven times more than it was usually heated. A fiery furnace seven times hotter? Could this be a foreshadowing of the seven-year Tribulation that will test God's people with fiery trials?

Verses 20,21—

It seems to be an overly hasty command to the most mighty men in his army...to cast them into the burning fiery furnace. The soldiers bound Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego fully clothed and cast them into the furnace in their coats, hosen (probably a tunic), hats (more likely turbans), and their other garments. Being thrown into a fire, or burned at the stake has been a gruesome punishment over the centuries. It seems most of the ancient artwork depicting these executions show the victim fully clothed, so this account of Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego being clothed doesn't appear to be anything unusual. In the 1940's however, millions of Jews were stripped naked, gassed, and then thrown into ovens to be cremated.

Verses 22,23—

The urgent order to heat the furnace exceeding hot didn't take into account what would happen to anyone else who got near the oven; the men who took Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego to the brink of the opening of the furnace, the fire slew those men.

Why did the Babylonians have hot furnaces in the first place? Some have suggested they were used to produce the finish on the brickwork for their magnificent construction projects, like the Ishtar Gate which is made of glazed bricks. A reconstruction of the gate, excavated from Babylon from 1904 to 1914 can be seen in the Pergamon Museum in Berlin (See slides for this session).

This isn't the first time Nebuchadnezzar roasted men in the fire. The prophet Jeremiah 29:22 records this about two prophets. "And of them shall be taken up a curse by all the captivity of Judah which are in Babylon, saying The LORD make thee like Zedekiah, and like Ahab, who the king of Babylon roasted in the fire."

Verses 24—

Assuming the three men would be dead, the king was astonished, today we use the word astonished or astounded. The word means, what he saw figuratively turned him to stone! Another phrase we might use today is "He was stunned." Did we not cast three men bound into the midst of the fire? There is nothing from Nebuchadnezzar's words or actions that shows any dismay for his soldiers being killed. He was ruthless. There was little to like about the man. True, O king, his counsellors replied.

Verse 25—

How the king could see into the furnace is unknown. Obviously, he is viewing from a distance and somehow can see inside. Modern day furnaces may give us a hint at how it was possible (See slides for this session).

I see four men loose walking in the midst of the fire. Presumably the cords used for binding them had burned off, but the three men and another unknown figure were not hurt by the fire. Nebuchadnezzar exclaims, The fourth is like the Son of God. The original language does not include the article The, it is simply a son of God. The KJV capitalizes Son and God which unfortunately has led many people to believe this was Jesus, standing with the three men.

Although we think of, rightly so, The Son of God as Jesus Christ, the king was not identifying Jesus as The Son of God. He would not have known anything about Jesus of the New Testament. Nebuchadnezzar most likely meant an angel of some kind (see vs. 28). So, who was the fourth? We are not told, but it was likely an angel sent by God to protect them. Later in chapter 6 Daniel will give credit to God for sending his angel and protecting him while he was in the lion's den. In chapter 12 there is a special angel, Michael who standeth guard for Israel. Michael could be involved here. We also learn from Hebrews 1:14 that angels are ministering spirits, sent forth to minister.

Verse 26,27—

The king called them out of the furnace, and in the presence of many witnesses, not a hair on their head was singed. The fact that the king in his haste had not stripped them of their clothing became a testimony of God's Sovereign control over the situation. Neither were their coats burned or singed. Nor the smell of fire had passed on them.

Jesus made a telling statement (Matthew 10:28) speaking of the Jews in the Tribulation, "Fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell (Ghenna: the future destruction). Are not two sparrows sold for a farthing? And one of them shall not fall on the ground without your Father. But the very hairs of your head are numbered. Fear not therefore..." No doubt Jews in the Tribulation will take solace in this passage.

Verse 28-30—

Nebuchadnezzar was a polytheist, he believed in many Gods, his favorite being the god Marduk. Nevertheless, a decree is made to not allow anyone to speak against the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego. Freedom of religion was not part of the Babylonian culture. The subjects of the empire believed what they were told to believe. Nevertheless, truth was spoken, in that there is no other God that can deliver after this sort. The three men were promoted, or literally, made to prosper in the province of Babylon.

Nebuchadnezzar's edict stating that there shouldn't be any dissident speech against the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego or else they would be cut in pieces and their houses made a dunghill is certainly not an edict we should cheer. The last thing we should ever want is the government forcing us to believe in a particular God with the threat of death if we don't. This simply creates another form of totalitarianism and mass formation psychosis.

Today, men, women, boys and girls can be saved, not by force, but by grace through faith.
