I Myself go before you and will be with you. So do not be afraid; do not be discouraged. I, your loving Savior, am also infinite God! I am omnipresent; present everywhere at once. This makes it possible for Me to go ahead of you—opening up the way - without ever leaving your side. The promise of My presence is for all time. No matter where you go or what circumstances you encounter, I will be with you. This is the basis of your courage and confidence. Though fear and discouragement may sometimes sink into your heart, this is not their rightful home. Your heart is My dwelling place, and those hurtful emotions are not from Me. In fact, My perfect Love casts out fear. So check your heart from time to time, to see if fear and discouragement are loitering there. If you discover those unwelcome intruders, ask the Holy Spirit to function as a bouncer and boot them out! Then, encourage yourself with My promise to go before you and be with you—and let My perfect Love renew your hope.

Deuteronomy 31:8 Ephesians 3:16-17 1John 4:18

Give your entire attention to what I am doing right now, and don't get worked up about what may not happen tomorrow. This sounds so simple, but it goes against the grain of human nature - against the strong desire to feel in control. Mankind longs to be able to forecast the future, and some people peddle their "expertise" in this area to make money. But the future belongs to Me, so you don't need to worry about it.

Trying not to think about something is usually ineffective and counterproductive. The effort to stop thinking about the matter keeps you chained to those thoughts. However, you can break free by focusing your attention on Me and on what I am doing in your life. I am your living Savior, and I am always doing new things.

What keeps most people chained to future thoughts is their fear of what tomorrow may bring—wondering whether they will be able to cope with it. But remember this: I will help you deal with whatever hard things come up—when the time comes.

evidenced by the actions Jesus took in His life. He healed the sick and raised the dead, because of His compassion for those in need, but also to testify that He was indeed the Messiah. This was not just something that happened a few times. It characterized the entire life and ministry of Jesus. When Peter preached the gospel to Cornelius he said, "How God anointed Jesus of Nazareth with the Holy Ghost and with power: who went about doing good, and healing all that were oppressed of the devil; for God was with him" (Acts 10:38). A lost and cynical world may reject the Bible account, but that does not make it less true.

It is impossible to truly believe in Jesus unless we believe all that He is and all that He did.

Lay Down The Burden

Dr. Paul Chappell

Ye sent unto John, and he bare witness unto the truth. But I receive not testimony from man: but these things I say, that ye might be saved. He was a burning and a shining light: and ye were willing for a season to rejoice in his light. But I have greater witness than that of John: for the works which the Father hath given me to finish, the same works that I do, bear witness of me, that the Father hath sent me.

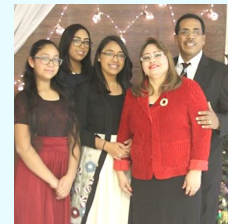

John 5:33-36

Many people who accept Jesus as a good teacher or role model refuse to accept His divinity. Thomas Jefferson made his own version of the Bible that left out all the miracles, which he did not believe were real. He was fine with the moral teachings of the Lord, but he rejected much of the Word of God. In a letter to a friend, Jefferson decried the "artificial systems invented by Ultra-Christian sects" which according to him included "the immaculate conception of Jesus, his deification, the creation of the world by him, his miraculous powers, his resurrection & visible ascension, the Trinity, original sin, atonement, regeneration, election, orders of Hierarchy, Etc."

Jesus did work miracles, and He was divine. The fact that He was sent from God to be the Savior for all who believe was
