Dear Friends,

This month will see one of the biggest changes of our lives – our only child heads off to college, 577 miles away.

Looking back, to say I felt ill-prepared for fatherhood would be an understatement. There had been no other children in my family, and my exposure to children of any age in my early adulthood was sparse at best. Even though we were 31 when Jacob entered the world, I think I had only held, at most, three infants in my life, at all. (I had certainly never changed a diaper!)

However, as with countless other unprepared fathers before me, I learned and I figured it out. Beyond the survival basics of raising a child, though, I had even bigger worries. How does one raise a little boy in the 21st century?

This is far from a silly question, and its one we need to be asking as a society. I always point out to folks in the church that the childhood Brooke and I experienced is far more like that experienced by our most senior members than what Jacob and his generation have known. Technology and culture have changed far more from the '70s to the '00s than they did from the '30s and '40s to the '70s. And because of that, for many adults in the church today, how to raise our children is a timeless question that has taken on a new immediacy.

I maintain that despite changing times and changing social morals, a major tool for raising children continues to be keeping them in the church. When a church acts as it should, every person in that church becomes an extended part of a child's family. Every church-aunt and church-uncle, every church-grandparent, watches over, teaches, and nurtures each child in the church and encourages them to look past their troubled culture and see the one true God who loves them.

Matthew 18 says, "Whoever welcomes one such child in my name welcomes me." It is a priority and a command that each local church welcome children in the name of Jesus Christ. We have been blessed that throughout Jacob's life, he has known churches like this, which took this responsibility seriously.

As Jacob prepares to head out into the world and begin this next phase in life, we are proud of the values he has learned and grateful that he had such a wonderful church family from which to learn them. Thank you all for truly being our "church family."

Blessings,
Pastor Bill

NEW MARKET UNITED METHODIST WOMEN ~ JULY 6, 2022

Five women met July 6, 2022, at 7:00 P.M. in fellowship hall. President Brooke Pike opened the meeting with prayer.

Unfinished Business: The menu for August's 50+ luncheon was finalized. There will be ham, scalloped potatoes, green beans, cucumber/onion/tomato salad, jello, rolls and a dessert to be determined.

New Business: Marci Welliever had cleaned the outdoor church sign and said in the future the woman might want to start saving to help purchase a new sign. (hopefully a digital one) The west side of the sign is faded and the grooves for the letters cannot be cleaned completely. It was also suggested to reserve some money to help with members attending the Christian retreat at the Cove in Ashville, North Carolina.

It was decided that one or two days next week, the women will clean the white tables and chairs in fellowship hall and the classrooms.

The women will continue to be called the United Methodist Women.

The president of the 50+ Club asked if the women would lift the 35 reservation limit since there were about 42 in the group. The women will serve over 35, but will ask the group not to invite guests if the count is going over 35 (Some make reservations, but fail to attend.)

A card was signed for Sue Foy who is still in Lane Nursing Home.

The group then discussed Chapter 11 of Laugh Again by Charles Swindoll. Church people need to do what is necessary to limit disharmony in the church. They don't have to always agree with each other, but they need to be agreeable. Some nasty infighting is embarrassingly petty and the world enjoys watching churches fight and quarrel for the silliest reasons. We need to stand firm in our faith (1 Cor. 16:13) and keep the threefold objective when reconciling differences: restoration, faith, and keeping Christ in our hearts.

Closing: Brooke closed the meeting at 8:45 P.M. The September 7 meeting might be at Rhett Welliever's back porch depending on Rachel's coaching schedule.

New Market United Methodist Men

Minutes of the July 13th Meeting

A meeting of the New Market United Methodist Men was held on Wednesday, July 13th, at the Big Dipper, President Dan Welliver presiding and the Secretary in attendance. There were 6 members present. Director of Transportation Bill Thomas provided transportation to and from the event for 4 of the members.

Beforehand, the men enjoyed ice cream and food from the Big Dipper. The meeting was called to order at around 5:45 pm. The Treasurer's Report was read and approved without change- the only expenditure since the previous meeting was a payment of $30 to John Froedge for being the guest speaker at the Father-Son Banquet.

The first item of business was a report on the Father-Son Banquet. The banquet was attended by 15 men and food for the event was generously prepared by 7 women. The second item of business was a discussion of what the men should study during Sunday school for the rest of the year. It was determined that the decision would be made at a later date after further research and discussion. The meeting was adjourned at 6:24 pm, and the men engaged in jovial discussion before dispersing due to the onset of rain.

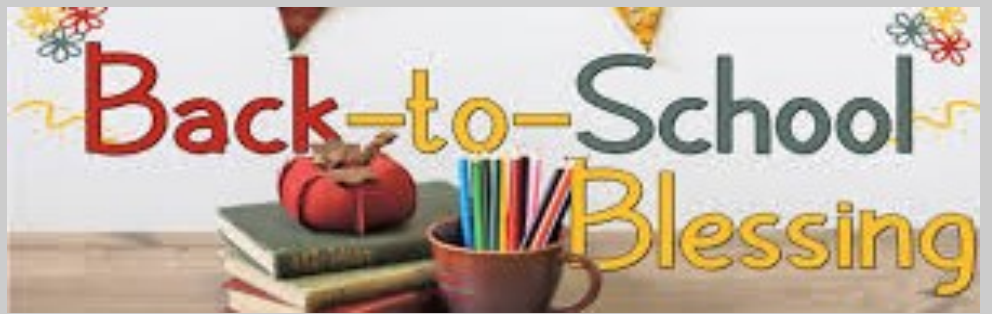

The next meeting will be held on Wednesday, August 10th, at 7:00 pm in the fellowship hall of the New Market United Methodist Church.

New Market Elementary Back to School Night

The New Market Elementary has asked different groups to participate in the back to school night August 5. The women's Sunday School class has decided to participate and has purchased pencils that say We support you. New Market United Methodist Church. They are also purchasing ankle socks to give away with the pencils. A Bible verse will be attached to these gifts for kids. If you would like, we could use some more socks. Lori and Sheila purchased ankle socks at Walmart and I think they are found between the baby and youth section. ( I think that is what Lori said) She got a pack of 6 or 8? They are different designs and sized for elementary kids. We would appreciate any socks. We will be at at table from 3-6 on August 5 giving them to students. This is a good outreach ministry. Thank you in advance.
