Tonight:

6:00pm Worship Night with Josh Baldwin in Room 209

Dear Church Family,

Good morning and welcome to our worship service! I am so thankful for the time we spend together worshipping the Lord and hearing from His Word. The Lord wants us to know Him more, so the wonderful time of encouragement as we gather is always a joy. As we worship Him this morning, let's make sure our hearts are right before Him. I am praying the Lord will continue to work in each of our lives as we seek to know Him and follow Him.

Summer is here in full force, isn't it? With that said, September and the Fall season will be arriving shortly. We are starting Awana again on Wednesday nights and will also have other Bible studies taking place. On Sunday nights, I will begin a sermon series about church leadership. The Bible has much to say on not only what leadership roles there are within the church, but how we are to follow the Lord. As you travel and enjoy the remaining moments of summer, make sure you check out the church calendar for the next few months. There will be quite a bit going on, so make sure you are informed.

Continuing our study in Matthew, I have been convicted by what the Lord states to the Pharisees. Many times, we easily see the flaws in others and yet miss what God is trying to do in our own lives. Have you experienced this? I certainly have. I am thankful for God's grace. He can change us. The good news of Christ is all about the transforming power of Christ's grace in our lives. As we continue to work through these challenging passages in Matthew, let's take time to examine our hearts before the Lord. Are we yielding to Him? Are we walking with Him in sincerity and truth? Are there areas we need to confess and submit to Him? All these questions can be answered honestly and without condemnation in Christ. We also know the Lord loves us completely. What a blessing this understanding truly is. Let's listen today with hearts willing to receive what the Lord says. Let's yield afresh to the One who alone is able to change us and conform us into His image. Thanks for your prayers and know I am praying for you.

In Christ's love,

Pastor Erik
