“Already, But Not Yet”

Scripture is replete with passages about the Kingdom of God. Many of these passages discuss the nature of the Kingdom as having already come (Matthew 12:28). There is also a sense in which the Kingdom of Heaven/God is within each and every believer (Luke 17:20-21). Scripture seems to be telling us that in some way the Kingdom of God is already here, but it is not here in its fullest.

I like to think of it this way. When you and I enter into a relationship with God through Christ in the power of the Spirit, we are given access to the “heavenly places”. We are “seated with Christ in heavenly places” (Ephesians 2:6). This is a current reality, but one that has not been fully fulfilled on the day of Christ’s Second Coming. It has ALREADY happened in the lives of believers, but it is not yet complete. The life of a Follower of Christ is one lived in limbo between the heavenly and physical worlds. Praise God for the struggle that this is and for the future hope we have!
