J Morgan Gravley - "I'm glad I didn't baptize any of you...."

Paul is arguably one of the most influential followers of Christ in church history. I mean, he WAS the second most prolific New Testament writer with 32,408 words, second only to the author Luke. What is most striking in his writing is the consistent drum beat of Christ as Lord and King, Christ as the center and author, Christ as the primary concern for CHRISTians. Paul writes of the preeminence of Christ, the power of Christ, the daily presence of Christ. His Damascus road experience was the core truth in his understanding of the Old Testament and how to live the new life. Paul followed Christ alone.

This persistence on elevating Christ led Paul to live humbly. He wanted no credit, no reward, no recognition. He deemed every qualification he had as rubbish for the sake of knowing Christ. He reminds us that good doctrine, dedicated religion, and even "perfect" moral virtue are minor things compared to knowing Christ I'm his fullness. Paul wrote and lived the truth that faith in the risen Lord is the only worthy qualification and the only thing we should put our trust in (Phil. 3:9).
