- The Persecuted Church Front-line workers thank God that officials allowed 40,000 Bibles printed in a local language to enter a North African nation. “We encountered numerous unexpected obstacles within the last month in trying to clear the container out of the port,” said one front-line worker. “Through it all, the Lord was teaching us to trust and rely on Him more.” The worker and local Christians request prayers for continued favor with local officials and that all the Bibles will be safely distributed to Christians who need them.
